Third Sunday of Easter

Emmaus might as well be Brigadoon. We hear of it in this one story—and it's only in Luke—and then it disappears. The journey to Emmaus is one of the most beloved stories about Jesus, and yet the town is probably "mythical" in the truest sense. Like so much of life, this story is about the journey, not the destination. Running away from Jerusalem and their fears, probably going home in disillusionment, two of Jesus' disciples encounter a stranger on the road who, like a rabbi, is able to help them understand their experiences using his deep knowledge of scripture. Later, sharing a meal with him, they recognized the stranger as Jesus, and they return to Jerusalem to tell the others. How like our Mass—we hear the scriptures and an explanation of them, we share a meal, and then we go out to tell the good news.

THE STRANGER

Imagine meeting a stranger, a fellow traveler, who butts into the conversation you're having with your friend. The two disciples in today's Gospel are heading to Emmaus, seven miles away from Jerusalem, heartbroken and disillusioned. It's the day of Jesus' resurrection, but no one knew it when these two set out on their journey, maybe going home to resume their pre-Jesus lives because it seemed as if everything was over.

In the middle of trying to make sense of the tragedy, some eavesdropping guy asks them about their troubles. After telling their story, the disciples are amazed to find this stranger able to piece together the fragments of the broken image of their master using scripture as the glue. Then it happens—at dinner they recognize Jesus in the breaking of bread, just before he vanishes. With their hearts burning with love and inspiration, they run back to Jerusalem—at night—to tell the others their new story.

THE STRANGER/SHEPHERD

The stranger in this story who turns out to be Jesus is reminiscent of the Gospel images of Jesus as the Good Shepherd. He seeks out his "lost sheep" who have strayed from the faith community, and the experience of the risen Lord transforms them into perhaps the very first evangelists, sharing their Good News with their friends back in Jerusalem. Are we transformed by the time we leave Mass? We should be! Our hearts should be burning within us from our experience of Jesus in word and sacrament. Yet how often life breaks our heart and clouds our mind! We stumble toward our own Emmaus, unaware that Jesus is with us. We are privileged to experience Jesus in every Eucharist through the breaking open of scripture and by the breaking of the bread. Like the disciples of the story, that transforming experience can compel us to go forth and tell everyone the Good News.

Today's Readings: Acts 2:14, 22-33; Ps 16:1-2, 5, 7-8, 9-10, 11; 1 Pt 1:17-21; Lk 24:13-35

Tercer Domingo de Pascua

EL DESCONOCIDO

Imagínate encontrar a un desconocido, un compañero de viaje, que se entromete a una conversación que estás teniendo con tu amigo. Los dos discípulos en el Evangelio de hoy se dirigen a Emaús, a siete millas de Jerusalén, desconsolados y desilusionados. Es el día de la resurrección de Jesús, pero nadie sabía cuándo estos dos empezaron su camino, quizá regresando a casa para continuar sus ocupaciones previas a su seguimiento a Jesús, pues parecía como si todo hubiera terminado.

En medio del intento para encontrar sentido a la tragedia, algún hombre escucha a escondidas y les pregunta acerca de sus problemas. Después de contarle su historia, los discípulos se sorprenden encontrar a un desconocido que usando las Escrituras pone todas las piezas juntas de una imagen rota de su maestro. Lo que luego pasa, durante la cena reconocen a Jesús al partir el pan, justo para desaparecer ante ellos. Con sus corazones encendidos de amor e inspiración, corren para regresar a Jerusalén, en la noche, para contarles a los otros su nueva historia.

EL DESCONOCIDO/PASTOR

El desconocido en esta historia que resulta ser Jesús, es una reminiscencia de las imágenes del Evangelio de Jesús como el Buen Pastor. Él busca a sus “ovejas perdidas” que se han desviado de la comunidad de fe, y la experiencia del Señor resucitado los transforma en quizá los primeros evangelistas, compartiendo la Buena Nueva con sus amigos regresando a Jerusalén.

¿Somos transformados cuando salimos de Misa?
 ¡Deberíamos! Nuestros corazones deberían arder dentro de nosotros debido a nuestra experiencia de Jesús en palabra y sacramento. ¡Sin embargo, que tan a menudo la vida rompe nuestros corazones y nubla nuestra mente!
 Tropezamos hacia nuestro Emaús, ignorando que Jesús está dentro de nosotros. Somos privilegiados de experimentar a Jesús en cada Eucaristía mediante las Escrituras y al partir el pan. Como los discípulos de esta historia, esa experiencia transformadora puede obligarnos a avanzar y anunciar a todos la Buena Nueva.

Pope Francis's plan for rising again

A reflection written by Pope Francis appeared on Friday on the website of Vida Nueva. In it he applies Jesus's resurrection to the current crisis.

By Sr Bernadette Mary Reis, fsp

"Rejoice" is the first word spoken by the Risen Lord. He used it to greet "Mary Magdalene and the other Mary after they had discovered that the tomb was empty... He is the Risen One and wants to raise these women to new life, and with them, all of humanity". Thus Pope Francis begins a reflection on the connection between Jesus's Resurrection and the current crisis into which we all have been plunged. The reflection appeared on Friday on the website of the Spanish-language periodical Vida Nueva.

Joy now?

Inviting the disciples going to Emmaus to rejoice would have been provoking, Pope Francis continues. Our experience today, he reflects, is much like that of the first disciples. We, like them, "live surrounded by an atmosphere of pain and uncertainty..." and are asking "Who will roll away the stone?" (Mk 16:3). He describes the tombstone as one that "threatens to bury all hope" and enumerates the consequences so many are living: the elderly forced into complete isolation, families who can no longer put food on the table, frontliners who are "exhausted and overwhelmed". It's a "heaviness" he says, "that seems to have the last word".

Disciples bearing perfume

It's the women who did not allow the events of Christ's Passion to paralyze them, Pope Francis said. In this reflection, he picks up where he began in his homily of the Easter vigil. "Out of love for the Master, and with their typical, irreplaceable and blessed feminine genius, they were able to confront life as it came". While the Apostles first fled, denied Him, then hid out of fear, the women found ways to overcome every obstacle in their path. They did it by simply "being and accompanying". Many today are "carrying perfume" and "bringing the anointing" of "co-responsibility". They are ministering to the Lord in their brothers and sisters. Some do this by not being a risk to others, others put their lives at risk. "Doctors, nurses, people stocking supermarket shelves, cleaners, caretakers, people who transport goods, public safety officials, volunteers, priests, women religious, grandparents, educators, and many others" have asked the same question the women asked: "Who will roll away the stone?" Yet, the Pope acknowledges, this has not kept them from "doing what they felt they could and were obliged to do".

The Lord precedes us

The joy that the disciples discovered was in Jesus that the vigil they had kept for the Lord, "even in death and their greatest despair, had not been in vain". Instead, it allowed them to be "anointed by the Resurrection: they were not alone. He was alive and preceded them on their journey". This is the news that was capable of "breaking the cycle that kept them from seeing that the stone had already been rolled away". That joy is our joy too.

Many are participating in the Lord's passion, either personally or at the side of their brothers and sisters. There, "our ears will hear the newness of the Resurrection: we are not alone, the Lord precedes us on our journey and removes the stones that paralyze us". No one can rob us of this hope. It cannot become infected. "All the life of service and love that you are giving at this time will beat once again." The Lord only needs a "crack" where His anointing can enter which will "allow us to contemplate this painful reality with a renewed outlook", the Pope says.

The next step is to retrace our steps, just as the women in the Gospel did. That action is a symbol of lives transformed by the Easter proclamation, Pope Francis explains. It's living with the realization that the Lord regenerates hope by constantly doing something new. A renewed outlook is one that sees how this "something new" is "already springing up" (see Is 43:18).

No one is saved alone

The community of disciples discovered something that we are now discovering, the Pope continues: "no one is saved alone." Borders and walls are crumbling. "Fundamentalist discourse is dissolving before an almost imperceptible presence that manifests the fragility of which we are made", he says. Easter invites us to renounce anything that impedes new life from flourishing. The time is ripe for a "new imagination" allowing the "breath of the Spirit" to open new horizons before us. We urgently need to "discern and discover the Holy Spirit's pulse" leading us to collaborate together to "channel the new life the Lord wants to generate in this concrete moment of history", he notes. Only the Gospel and openness to the Spirit can inspire us with the "new imagination" necessary at this time. The Spirit calls us to work with Him. God's Spirit neither allows Himself to be "closed or exploited by fixed or outdated methods". Rather, the Spirit proposes that "we join His movement, capable of 'making all things new'" (Rev 21:5).

Antibodies of solidarity

Quoting Global Pandemic and Universal Brotherhood: Note on the Covid-19 emergency, by the Pontifical Academy for Life, Pope Francis emphasizes that this pandemic needs to be treated with the "antibodies of solidarity". "Each individual action", he underlines, "is not an isolated one." "For better or for worse" all of our actions affect others. Each person is a "protagonist" of history and can respond to the evils affecting millions world-wide. "It is not permissible that we write current and future history by turning our backs on the suffering of so many people", he says.

To act as one

The challenge, Pope Francis points out is to "act as one people...to have a real impact". This applies to the current epidemic and "other epidemics that beset us". What are these other "epidemics"? Hunger, war, poverty, environmental devastation, the globalization of indifference. The wish the Pope expresses on concluding his reflection is that society might find "the necessary antibodies of justice, charity and solidarity. Let us not be afraid to live the alternative civilization of love". It is a "civilization of hope", he says confounding "anxiety and fear, sadness and fatigue". This civilization, he explains, needs to be built daily, "uninterruptedly" and requires everyone's commitment, a "committed community of brothers and sisters".
